San Dimas Farmers Market is Back

Back by popular demand, the Farmer's Market returns to San Dimas this spring 2007. And it promises to be bigger and better than last year, with prepared foods and fun for the whole family.

All your favorite California fresh fruits and vegetables, honey, flowers will be offered from certified producers. The Market will include prepared dishes such as; BBQ Delights, tamales, funnel cakes, roasted corn and much more. And you will find specialty foods including artisan breads and unique pastries.

Vendors will display an array of unique arts and crafts including; hand crafted items for gift giving and home decor. Plus, there will be live entertainment, an inflatable slide, a climbing wall, and even a kid's train. For your comfort, shaded seating will be provided. Also, a free raffle is going to be drawn every week!

So, make this your Wednesday night destination. Come out
